

Annie Marie Yanda Bradford

February 20, 1949 - November 7, 2017

Annie Marie Yanda Bradford, a longtime resident of Fort Jones, passed away on November 7, 2017, at her home.

She leaves behind her step-son, Aaron Bradford and his wife, Misty; two granddaughters who she loved dearly, Haley and Trinity; father Charles Yanda; three sisters Judy (Jerry) Robertson, Susan (Rod Renadette) Gowett, and Laurie (Randy) Mastin; many in-laws and close friends.

She is preceded in death by her husband, Robert Bruce Bradford, and her mother, Alice Dunkowski Yanda.

Annie was born on February 20, 1949, in Fillmore, NY to parents Alice and Charles Yanda. She moved to Berkeley, California in 1970 where she worked as a night attendant for the San Francisco School for the Deaf. She lived with a group of friends until she moved to Siskiyou County in the mid 1970's where she eventually met her true love, Robert Bruce Bradford. Annie was a very creative person; she directed Arsenic and Old Lace at the Community Theater, loved textiles and made some beautiful weavings. She worked on several fires as a camp cook and eventually did catering.

Annie was a free spirit and anyone who was lucky enough to know her would tell you she was a nonjudgmental person who treated everyone with kindness.

She will be missed.
