“ As the eldest I always looked up to my Dad. Love remembering when he would come over to see I how I was feeling on his lunch break, while I was carrying our son. Remember him walking me down the isle to get married; buying me the most unpractical dress & shoes for graduation (just because I really wanted them); teaching me how to drive; driving by work "honking" to let me know that he was checking to see if I was okay; patient & carrying to show my husband how to work on the Mustang, rebuild the front porch or remodel the kitchen. Dad loved being helpful, showing he loved & carried for all his children. Being the eldest I have the most memories of his love. Thank you Dad, I truly miss you.
