“ Frank and I shared some fun times together. We both enjoyed "Picking" and selling our treasure's. Frank was a master negotiator and could spot a pick from a mile away. He loved sharing his knowledge of the business and was always willing to help his friends. People should also remember him for his mental toughness. You would not know it by looking at him and he rarely shared how much pain his broken body dumped on him 24hrs a day. As a fellow back pain sufferer I understand what its like. I can tell you it never dulled his spirit or his drive. He empathized with others and never judged them. He was also so proud of his wife Leslie and his daughter Micahela (sp). He always was there for me when I was in pain and supported me. He always cheered me up and gave me hope. I will miss him and will always hold him in deep regard. My only consolation is that he is no longer in pain and that he is no doubt setting up yard sales in heaven!!! Happy trails Frank!!
