The dragon crest shines brightly in the light of the moon
Then he climbs upon his steed
And soars high into the air” - Ryan Ferry

“ My handsome red-headed nephew. I wish life was different and that we had more time together. I wish the sound of your laughter was more familiar to my ears. Until we meet again though, know that you were loved more than you could have possibly known. In the meantime, I am sure Grandpa has already scooped you up and you are at his side with all his heavenly chores. Sending you big love and hugs across the big divide. Aunt Sherri
