“Mr. O'Connor was one of the best teachers I ever had. He was a great man and a great chemist. He taught with passion and enthusiasm. He touched the lives of hundreds, if not thousands of students during his career. I was surprised when several years after I graduated (1992) I bumped into him somewhere in town and he remembered me from his class. I wasn't a significant student, nor was I a great student, but for him to remember me like I was in his class yesterday left a huge impression on me. We had a nice conversation and I will never forget him.”
