“ Where would I even began.. Billy was my oldest friend. My heart is broken. I can't imagine this world with out you in it. My heart is broken for your Mom she loved you kids with all her might. I can still remember kicking you with my skates on in the nuts at fort jones elementary school. You named your dog after me. I took it as a compliment. You called me out of the blue a couple years ago. We hadn't seen each other in 20 years. Nothing changed. We left off like Not a year had passed. I think it was the universe allowing me to say goodbye to you. I will see you in heaven my friend. I will carry you in my heart forever..

“ My heart and love is majorly with you all... we have lost such a special and sweet guy in our lives. I met Billy in Jr. High School... he was one of the popular boys back then, so I was always a little intimidated and shy around him. But as one of his cousin Mark's best friends, he always treated me like family. His smile was warm and welcoming... he was a jokester, for sure. But on the other side of the silly, was a deeply caring person and I knew that he legitimately meant every well-wish and "have a good day" that he'd pass on. He was full of pride, gushing over his new grand baby... and he loved all of his kids so much. I'll never forget you, Billy!!! 'Til we meet again in heaven, my friend. ♡♡♡
